Hard Hats.
Strong Women.
Building the Future.

It's more than a slogan
at Nontraditional Employment for Women.

It's why New York City's unionized building trades are proud to partner with NEW, placing women in apprenticeships to advance their careers in an industry with middle class wages, health insurance for workers and their families, and retirement security.

This is what union construction looks like.
Shouldn't it be what all construction looks like?
